

Lecture by Craig S. Womack

SAN DIEGO STATE
UNIVERSITY

Friday, May 1
11:30 a.m.
Storm Hall, Room 109

Native American Literary Nationalism

Craig S. Womack is an associate professor of English at Emory University. He is Muskogee Creek and Cherokee. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Oklahoma in 1995 and has taught both there and at institutions such as the University of Lethbridge and the University of Nebraska. He is a leading figure in Native American literary studies, and among his published works is the widely influential Red on Red: Native American Literary Separatism, as well as the novel, Drowning in Fire.

Co-Sponsored by an SDSU College of Arts and Letters Student Success Fee Grant, the SDSU American Indian Studies Department, the San Diego Multicultural LGBT Literary Foundation, and the LGBTQ Research Consortium.

Lecture is free and open to the public. For more information, call 619-594-6991.